FOR THE CURE

This new and insightful workshop is designed for spouses, significant others and family members of newly diagnosed breast cancer patients.

The goal of this workshop is to provide important information about care giving and the support new patients and their families require during a highly emotional and difficult time.

The free two-hour workshop is held quarterly at The Breast Center at St. Joseph Medical Center. The sessions share support methods and ideas from books like The Breast Cancer Husband, written by Marc Silver, and Caregiving, a book from the American Cancer Society, as well as real life survivor family learnings.

Family members and caregivers of breast cancer patients are encouraged to attend.
